ZOOM WEBINAR: The Future of Legal Information & Self-Help in D.C.

Tuesday, October 29, 2024
12:00-1:00 P.M.

Registration Link

Please join the D.C. Access to Justice Commission for an informative webinar to accompany the release of its latest report, Justice for All: Report on Self-Help in the District of Columbia and Recommendations for a More Efficient and Coordinated Future.

In this one-hour webinar, we will:

- share what we've learned about the state of legal information & self-help in D.C.;
- guide you through new resources and tools we've developed with best practices in creating and updating self-help materials; and
- provide an overview of the Commission's recommendations for a centralized approach to maintaining and making available self-help materials in D.C.

You'll leave the webinar with tools you can use now and energized about what the future could hold for this critical access-to-justice issue.

Speakers to include: Jim Sandman, U-Penn Law Future of the Profession Initiative
Angela Tripp, Legal Services Corporation

The Commission was created by the D.C. Court of Appeals in 2005. Its 25 members include distinguished leaders from the courts, legal services, academia, the private bar, business, and the community.
